

Grade 6 "bonds" at Century Park

By Misha IQBAL, MS Student Reporter, Pudong Campus

Middle School Bonding Day was held on Tuesday September 28, 2010. Grade 6 went to Century Park; Grade 7 went to Forest Park, and Grade 8 stayed at school and did enjoyable and recreational activities.

Bonding Day are daylong trips, often with a cultural element and physical activities.

Activities are held off campus and are attended by all students and teachers at any given grade level.

According to Jeff Rosen, MS Principal, Bonding Days are meant to give both students and teachers an opportunity to get to know each other outside the walls of the classroom. Kids make new friends, and grade levels pull together in the spirit of the day.

Teachers at each grade level organize Bonding Day because the teachers chaperone the trips. It is important that they take the lead in organizing the activities so they are suitable for each grade level. Our Chinese teachers facilitate securing locations and facilities around Shanghai.

Misha Iqbal, G6

When The Eagle asked Rosen if he thinks Bonding Day is important he replied, "Definitely! Middle School is a time where students need social opportunities as well as academic ones! It's important for students within a grade level to know they can count on each other, and it gives each grade level shared memories to talk about for the rest of the year."

"Everybody buckled up?" asked a teacher.

Grade 6 students were on their way to Century Park. As everyone got off the bus, 6th grade students had smiles on their face. All students were to have their "H" period teacher as a chaperone. Some teachers took their students to the activities and other teachers took their kids to the bike ride. In the activities there were different stations consisting of kick/softball, a Chinese traditional game, rock-paper-scissor game, quad bikes and a blind folded game.

Everyone was excited to ride the quad bikes. A quad bike is a bike with four seats and a steering wheel. There were many different wonderful, hilarious and frightening stories.

Eurest Cafeteria supplied sandwiches and Gatorade for lunch that students had preordered. After lunch we headed to the amusement park. Just when we were about to leave for the Amusement Park, it started to rain. Everyone raced to hide under shelter. People with umbrellas made a circle.

After about 30 minutes a teacher announced that we were going to the Amusement Park. Everyone shouted in excitement and started heading in that direction. It was still drizzling; everyone got in line to get their tickets. All the kids rushed to rides. Some went to the rollercoaster, some went to the bumper cars, some students were just chilling out buying things to eat like popsicles, ice cream and other snacks. The majority of students liked the Amusement Park but I really liked the bikes.

For a report on the Grade 7 activities, see the article on the next page. The eighth-graders stayed at school and did entertaining and cool activities that included picking a team name and making a cheer, sticking people on walls with duck tape, cooperation games, a hockey game, chopstick game and badminton with balloons. For lunch, eighth graders enjoyed delicious burgers and sodas. They also had an ice cream sundae party!

Grade 7 "bonds" at Forest Park

By Lisa BUGENSKA and James ROBINSON, MS Science Teachers, Pudong Campus

If you can't envision a day outside of the classroom where students learn to work together, make new connections, strengthen relationships, and test their communication skills, you just need to tag-along with the grade 7 for their bonding day at the Gong Qing Forest Park.

We started things off with some fun team-building activities. All 155 students made a huge circle and sat down, using only each other for support. The teachers showed them how to "protect their tail" in the Dragon Game — each homebase team had to hold on and try to tag other teams' tails. Finally, the students raced to spell out certain words like "Pudong" and "Shanghai," forming each letter with just their arms, legs, knees, and elbows.

After that warm-up, we then moved to the ropes course area of the park. Each homebase had to work together to cross each of the many obstacles. Students figured out how to get everyone across each obstacle despite some members having "broken" arms and legs they couldn't use or being "blind" and crossing with their eyes closed. Teams worked closely and communicated effectively to make sure that the entire team made it. Students were very supportive of each other, making comments like "It's OK ... put your foot a little lower ... good job!" or "Do you want me to take your picture?" or "We rock!"

Proud of ourselves for coming together as a team, students kept the community-building going as groups of four students learned to handle a rowboat together. This was a true team-building activity. Working through some initial frustration, many students shined as they took the lead and organized their group while others took directions from a peer and learned to be team players.

Many smiles and a lot of laughter filled the day. Leaving school behind for a little while, we got to know each other in new ways. I think as a seventh grade we now truly appreciate, respect, and value each other more. Anyone there can understand the importance of a day like this.

Middle school students celebrate Mid-Autumn Festival

By Joyce LIU, MS Chinese Teacher, Pudong Campus

On September 20 on the Pudong campus, all middle school Chinese class students actively

Our students finished their research and powerpoints under their Chinese teachers' instruction. Some were divided into small groups, and made a variety of labeled posters to decorate the walls of our middle school. These posters have as their goal to educate new teachers and students about the legends and folk customs unique engaged in the Mid-Autumn Festival celebration.

According to the lunar calendar, August 15 is Mid-Autumn Festival, a traditional Chinese Festival. But on this year's modern calendar, the date fell on September 22. Every year on this day, people far away from home returned to their hometown to enjoy the company of family and friends. It is a happy and joyous festival because families are reunited.

to the Mid-Autumn Festival in China. Other students presented information about the Festival and played 'ask & answer' games in Chinese class. Finally they shared with their classmates the moon cakes which teachers provided. This is the first time for some students to taste moon cakes and to enjoy the Festival atmosphere in school.

Some students from Grade 6, 7, and 8 also volunteered at the table outside the cafeteria handing out moon cakes for our hard-working teachers, and wishing passersby "Zhong qiu jie kuai le" (Happy Moon Festival). Teachers who stopped by at noon that day sampled the different types of moon cake: modern flavors like coffee and cranberry, and traditional flavors like lotus, pineapple, and coconut.

It is traditional for Chinese people to wish each other a long life so as to share the beauty of this graceful moonlight, even though they are miles apart. So wherever your family may be this holiday, 但愿人长久，千里共婵娟!

AP program celebrations

By Carol JORDAN, AP coordinator, Pudong Campus

One hundred and ninety-five students at the Pudong Campus wrote 372 AP Exams in May 2010.

The College Board's Advanced Placement Program offers students the opportunity to take challenging college-level courses while still in high school, and to receive college credit, advanced placement, or both for successful performance.

Sixty-three students earned awards in recognition of their exceptional achievement.

Twenty students qualified for an AP Scholar with Distinction Award by earning an average grade of at least 3.5 on all AP Exams taken, and grade 3 or higher on five or more of these exams. They are:

Alicia Chen
Laura Chen
Lily Feng
Sean Feng
Bryn Herdrich
Evan Herdrich
Kevin Hsu
David Huang
James Li
Connie Lin

Jonathan Liou
Brody McConnell
Donna Ni
Jae-A Park
Callum Voge
Diana Xu
James Xu
Amber Yin
Max Yoon
April Zhang

Twelve students qualified with AP Scholar with Honor Award earning an average grade of at least 3.25 on all AP exams taken, and grades of 3 or higher on four or more of these exams.

Among this group are:
Howard Chen
Chris Germain
Anna Harder
Victor Kung
Wenting Xie

Twenty-four students qualified for the AP Scholar Award by completing three or more AP Exams with grade 3 or higher, and seven qualified for an AP International honor, due to the breath of wide AP courses taken.

Shanghai American School to host China-premiere of provocative documentary

SAS is pleased to host the China premiere of a thought-provoking documentary about high-achieving students and the challenges that they face in a schedule-packed, performance-driven environment. This movie has attracted a lot of attention from the parent communities as well as from educators, psychologists and those in the medical profession, leading to almost instant sell-outs when the movie was screened in the United States and worldwide.

The movie will be shown on the Pudong Campus on November 4 at 12:30pm and on the Puxi Campus on November 5 at 5:30pm, after a catered reception on both campuses.

RACE TO NOWHERE Short synopsis

Director Vicki Abeles ignites an international conversation in her new documentary about the pressures faced by American students and their teachers in a system and culture that amplifies the need for achievement, competition and the pressure to perform. The film shines a light on the challenges faced by our kids in this "race to nowhere." Cheating is commonplace, stress-related illness, depression and burnout are rampant, and ironically, young people arrive at college and the workplace unprepared and uninspired. Featuring the heartbreaking stories of young people who have been pushed to the brink and educators who are burned out and worried that students aren't developing the skills needed for the global economy, and parents who are trying to do what is best for their kids, RACE TO NOWHERE points to common concerns among high-performing schools.

RACE TO NOWHERE is a call to families, educators, experts and policy makers to examine current assumptions on how to best prepare the youth of America to become the healthy, bright, contributing and leading citizens in the 21st century.

Vicki Abeles, Producer and Co-Director

Through bold and insightful works on film, Director

Vicki Abeles intends to bring to center stage critical issues impacting children, women and families. RACE TO NOWHERE is her first feature documentary. Since its premier at the Mill Valley Film festival, the film has screened to thousands of parents, educators and concerned citizens. Previously, Vicki worked as a corporate attorney on Wall Street and on the business side at Goldman Sachs. Clients represented a wide range of industries including the media business. Vicki lives in the Bay area with her husband and three children and is a passionate advocate for women and children. She also facilitates the parents group on Edutopia, part of the George Lucas Educational Foundation.

CAMPUS HOUSES

PROMOTE SPIRIT AND BELONGING

By Jeff ROSEN, MS Principal, Pudong campus

To be rooted ... is perhaps the most important and least recognized need of the human soul.

— Simone Weil

Pumas. Bears. Falcons. Dolphins. Animals with different strengths, talents, habits, and instincts.

So why do we divide the elementary and middle school students at the Pudong campus into one of four "houses" named after these creatures? We do this in order to create in each and every student an enthusiastic sense of belonging.

It is evident that at every school, in every country, at every grade level, students place a high priority on social interaction. The great humanistic psychologist, Abraham Maslow, believed that people want to "fit in" not to be passive but to feel safe, to be free to achieve their highest potential.

Now picture it: you are new at SAS. You know a few friendly faces from your classes but you still aren't quite comfortable joining that big group of laughing kids around the cafeteria table. Or you've been at SAS a long time. But you leave every day on the 3:10pm bus and don't have time to socialize with friends during CISSA or after-school activities; you really only know people through academic settings. Or perhaps you want to expand your already established group of friends.

Enter the first House Assembly of the school year on Monday September 26. Flashes of T-shirt color decorate the outdoor track as all ES and MS students and teachers participate in our "Spirit Walk." On the Friday prior to our Spirit Walk, a huge contingent of new — and therefore unclaimed — students sit quietly on the gym floor. As their names are called out, and they are welcomed to their "house," cheers erupt once again. No grumbling. No whispers or groans or finger pointing. Every student belongs. Every student has a place. Every student — unique and independent and strongly individual — is a part of something bigger than him or herself.

Thanks to Julian Thornbury and Pyong-Mun Yun for their time and dedication as House Leaders for ensuring this important part of our schooling philosophy runs smoothly and inclusively!

Book Club discuss book about raising children who think for themselves

By Laura COWAN and Timber MONTIETH, MS Counselors, Pudong Campus

At its September meeting, the Pudong campus middle school parents gathered for their first book club meeting of the new school year. The aim of the gathering was to develop a sense of community and friendship in order better to work together throughout the school year. The book for discussion is Raising Children Who Think for Themselves by Elisa Medhus M.D.

To facilitate the discussion and also to begin framing the context of the book, we asked each other the following questions;

- If you had one wish for your child, what would it be?
- When you were in middle school, what did you want?
- What is your job as a parent?
- How do you make decisions?
- How do we teach the decision making process at SAS?
- What guides an adult's decision making process?
- What guides a child's decision making process?

It's easy to see that as adults, we are able to rely on our internal thought process when making decisions; however, children and adolescents tend to rely on external sources. This is partly due to a lack of life experience which necessitates asking for other's opinions and modeling behavior to which they have been exposed. It is also because children and adolescents are developing their own identity and independence, and the people who play a crucial role in this period are their peers. This becomes even more apparent in international expat communities where the students are TCK's (Third Culture Kids).

We next meet on Thursday November 18, 12:30 – 2:15pm in the Grade 6 grade commons area.

There are still some books available so please join us, even if you can't make all the meetings, we'd love to see you there for even one.

Library Pages volunteer time to assist librarians in their work

By Joey ZHANG and Barbara BOYER, ES Pudong Campus Library

How do you put a price tag on one evening of fun? That's what our library page training session turned out to be! Priceless and loads of fun! Students who enjoy being around books and helping others, joined the ES Pudong library staff on Friday, September 24, after school, for the very first Library Page-training session.

A Library Page is a student who has been trained to shelve books, check books in and out, and who also organizes things in the library, helps with the cleaning, and assists in upcoming events (such as Visiting Authors), does a variety of errands and generally is available to assist the librarians with their duties. The students (all Grade 5) are generally available to fulfill their responsibilities during their lunch recess.

At the training session, the new Library Pages learned not only the scope of their responsibilities but how to perform them. They also worked on making a movie to introduce other students and parents as to where books are located in the library. We made these clips into a short movie and put it up on the TV at our library entrance for the whole school to watch and share.

Library Pages

Another one of our first projects was making posters for our SAS READS! GET CAUGHT READING DAY (September 29). Each of our library pages took pictures of others "getting caught" while reading. Then we worked on ComicLife to get the posters all set and ready to go! Also among one of those upcoming events, our library will hold two author events in the next couple of months. And guess what? Our library pages will all be invited to participate in the preparation of the welcoming assembly and get a chance to meet up with our visiting authors.

The training sessions are not over, but the Library Pages look forward to the next training session.

And remember to have fun!" Mr. Parham finished, dismissing the different schools such as YCIS Puxi, YCIS Pudong, SMIC, and Concordia to their first game.

"Go SAS Eagles!" The SAS kids screamed, encouraging their teammates, while they sat on the sidelines waiting for their turn to play.

Every year, the 3rd, 4th and 5th grade students have Soccer Day twice. The mornings and afternoons are always full of building pyramids and making up cheers, kids playing their hardest, and a whole bunch of teamwork.

The big fields around the swimming pool/MS buildings are cleared, and made into soccer fields.

Unfortunately, a lot/most of the 5th grade students weren't smiling when they heard that Soccer Day was moved to the next day, due to the rainy, windy weather. Luckily, Friday was bright and sunny, the perfect weather for playing soccer. Since Soccer Day was cancelled on Thursday, only two schools (YCIS PX & YCIS PD) showed up to play against the SAS 5th Graders.

At the end of the day, the kids went back to their classrooms with sweaty faces, beaming smiles, and a groan of pain here and there. Win or lose, everyone had a great time.

The different schools split up into their classes and then split their classes into two teams of about nine kids. In case you were wondering if the teachers played in any of the games, they didn't. But the kids would love to play the teachers anytime!

Thanks to all the teachers and helpers who organized the event and made it a totally awesome time for the upper Elementary!

Meet MONDAY — Adoptable Pet of the Week

Monday is our featured pet of the week. She was found by JAR on Nanjing Lu dirty, thin, with cuts on her paws. She is already spayed, updated on all of her vaccinations, including her rabies shot. Monday is estimated to be around one and a half years old and is also de-wormed and free of fleas. She is house-trained and friendly with other dogs, and very gentle and loving towards all people. She loves walks and playing with toys, but more than anything, she loves being around her caretakers. Her current foster parents are an SAS family, but she needs a permanent home! For more information on this pet, contact Marvin at shanghai dogs@gmail.com.

This Service Announcement is by the Animal Rescue Club. For more information on other ways that you can help or donate, please contact Shannon or Jean at syeh3789@yahoo.com / jeanzhang92@gmail.com.

Pudong Campus Girls varsity tennis team takes 2nd place at China Cup

By Emily LI, Captain

SAS Pudong hosted the China Cup Tennis Championships at the Shanghai Racquet Club over the weekend of September 24. Participating schools this year were SAS Pudong, ISB and HKIS.

The Pudong girls were pumped up and ready for battle. Our first team match, on Friday night, was against HKIS. Although we fought hard, the Dragons proved to be too tough and we fell 0-4 down. Our morale was low, but we still had our fighting spirit and knew that Saturday would be a new day.

On Saturday morning Coach Mac gave us a pep talk and ensured, "Matches WILL be won by SAS Pudong today!" Our next match was against ISB. Madi Johnsson and I scored solid singles victories and the eventual team match score ended in a tie 2-2. The wins and close matches really boosted our confidence. This would help us greatly with our final match against our rivals SAS Puxi.

We had yet to defeat our Puxi sisters in our last two encounters. The tension was high and we fought against nerves. In the singles matches Madi and I were both down. Madi was down 1-4 and I was consistently trailing by one game. We both dug in and fought hard and eventually won our matches 8-6! This was the first time SAS Pudong had defeated both the #1 and #2 girls from our sister campus in Puxi.

At the conclusion of the tournament SAS Pudong, SAS Puxi and ISB were all tied for second place. At this point it was down to tallying the total individual games won by each team.

We were delighted to learn that we'd won four games more than ISB and Puxi, thus earning us the 2nd place trophy! This was an especially rewarding finish because the SAS Pudong Girls Tennis team has four seniors on their squad this year. We hope to carry this momentum into our next two tournaments, SISAC and of course APAC.

SAS teachers in triathlon in the mountains of Moganshan

By David COLE, MS Humanities Teacher, Pudong Campus

On Saturday, October 9, 12 SAS teachers and one parent competed in a challenging Olympic distance triathlon in the mountains of Moganshan, about three hours from Shanghai.

The event, organized by Tori Widdowson of Transition Events, consisted of a 1.2km swim in reservoir, a 44km ride on mountain roads, and an 8km trail run through the bamboo forest. Athletes competed as individuals or in relays. The course was challenging and pushed all of the athletes to their limits. It's the height of the bamboo harvest in Moganshan, which added to the beauty and challenge of the course. For many of the athletes it was the first time competing in an event like this.

SAS middle school participants included David Cole, Lisa Bugenske, Laura Cowan, Elaine Costeira, Danka Kulikowski, Mark Laske, Maureen Spilane and Michele Wrzesinski. SAS elementary teacher participants included Sanna Robinson and Todd Denton. SAS high school participants included Tom Burgess and Patrick Marinucci. SAS parent Matt Bugenske also completed the entire triathlon.

I took first place overall, while Lisa Bugenske took top honors in the women's category. The top relay consisted of Danka Kulikowski, Patrick Marinucci, and Mark Laske. It was a great race and huge achievement for all of these athletes.

Varsity Boys volleyballers spike it out with International School Beijing

Varsity and JV boys and girls volleyball teams traveled to Beijing September 24 to compete in the China Cup tournament held there September 24-26. The boys varsity team had a great showing taking 2nd place in the tourney. WAB, ISB and SAS all played strong matches with many games going point for point. SAS defeated last year's APAC champions, WAB, to make it into the final against ISB. The final game was a nail-biter with SAS losing the first two games to ISB. SAS was able to come back and win the next two games with their aggressive defense and intense focus which brought it to a final 5th game. Once again going point for point the team played their hearts out, but ISB was able to get to the winning point for a final score of 16-14. Next is APAC in Kobe, Japan October 20-24 where the boys have their sights set on reclaiming the APAC title. Go Eagles!

campus was beautiful and huge, the kids were running around and playing all sorts of games, a huge selection of delicious and different types of food were so tempting plus the shopping kept us adults from being bored. I still have the same sense of excitement for the Fair as I did 11 years ago. My first grader is now a senior and she is no longer waiting anxiously for the games but actually running them. This will be her last International Fair as a student and I am so happy to see what a wonderful tradition this has become. Even though the IF is bigger and very different than 16 years ago, its purpose is still the same, to bring our community together to celebrate who we are, raise lots of money and have fun in the process. We had an amazing day.

The next time you consider again whether you want to participate in the International Fair again, or cook again or sell tickets again, or count those tickets at the end of the day,
